

PRESS RELEASE

Achstetten, November 2020

ACD Elektronik GmbH was awarded with the Innovation Prize of the State of Baden-Württemberg for the M2Smart®SE including Android™ Industrial+ platform

The winners of the coveted Innovation Prize of the State of Baden-Württemberg were announced by the Baden-Württemberg Minister of Economic Affairs, Dr. Nicole Hoffmeister-Kraut, on November 10, 2020: With its contribution to the modular handheld computer M2Smart®SE with Android™ Industrial+ platform, ACD Elektronik GmbH receives another award after the iF Design and German Innovation Award.

The Innovation Award of the state of Baden-Württemberg is awarded once a year to small and medium-sized companies from industry, trade and technological services located in the state. With its contribution to the mobile handheld computer M2Smart®SE in combination with the Android™ Industrial+ platform developed in-house, ACD Elektronik GmbH was able to prove itself among a large number of applications.

ACD Elektronik GmbH has already won the iF Design and the German Innovation Award with the M2Smart®SE in 2020. Together with the award now received, this is a great success for this innovative and future-oriented product.
